LSAT BUDDIES | LIVE SMALL-GROUP PREP

WINTER LSAT

10-WEEK PREP COURSE

From fundamentals to test day. Prepare for January—or get ahead for April and June.

NOV 8, 2026 – JAN 10, 2027 | $995 | 25 HOURS

Most Sundays 12:00–2:30 PM EST; Nov 29 and Jan 3 at 7:00–9:30 PM EST

SCHEDULE EXCEPTIONS: Nov 29 and Jan 3 meet 7:00–9:30 PM EST. Dec 26 meets Saturday 12:00–2:30 PM EST (instead of Sun, Dec 27).

ABOUT THE COURSE

LSAT studying shouldn't mean sitting alone at a computer. Learn in a small group with expert instruction, collaborative practice, study plans, and a clear progression from foundational skills to real test-day performance.

TWO TEST-DATE PATHWAYS

One course. A clear plan for whichever LSAT you target.

JANUARY 2027 LSAT

Finish January 10, then put your skills to work on test day.

APRIL / JUNE 2027 LSAT

Build early, then refine before fall 2027 law school applications.

WHO THIS COURSE IS FOR

January 2027 LSAT students — Finish the course immediately before the January LSAT, progressing from fundamentals to timed practice and test-day strategies.

Fall 2027 law school applicants — Get an early start. Finishing in January leaves time to build speed, address weaknesses, and prepare for the April or June 2027 LSAT before applying in fall 2027.

THE TWO-PART COURSE

Learn the skills. Then apply them under timed conditions.

01 FUNDAMENTALS
6 weeks · 15 live hours

02 INTERMEDIATE
4 weeks · 10 live hours

WEEKS 1–6 | FUNDAMENTALS

November 8 – December 13 · 15 instructional hours

Build the foundation: argument structure, assumptions, conditional reasoning, flaws, and core Logical Reasoning question types. Develop active-reading skills, analyze viewpoints, and work through Reading Comprehension passages with confidence.

WEEKS 7–10 | INTERMEDIATE

December 20 – January 10 · 10 instructional hours

Put the skills together under timed conditions: increase LR efficiency, improve passage timing, sharpen diagramming, tackle challenging questions, review practice tests, and develop strategies for performing consistently on test day.

WHAT'S INCLUDED

- 25 hours of live instruction across ten small-group classes
- Two hours of office hours each week
- Homework, practice materials, study aids, and structured study plans
- Access to class recordings • Collaborative small-group practice

FULL COURSE SYLLABUS

10 live sessions • 2.5 hours each • January / April / June 2027 LSAT preparation

FUNDAMENTALS | WEEKS 1–6

Week 1 — Sunday, November 8 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

Argument Structure & Active Reading

Identify conclusions, premises, and argument structure. Build RC active-reading habits and learn how a passage is organized.

Week 2 — Sunday, November 15 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

Conditional Reasoning & Inferences

Translate conditionals, construct chains and contrapositives, and apply them to Must Be True and Most Strongly Supported questions.

Week 3 — Sunday, November 22 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

Flaw Questions & Comparative Reading

Recognize common reasoning flaws; compare the viewpoints and organizational structures of paired RC passages.

Week 4 — Sunday, November 29 • 7:00–9:30 PM EST

Sufficient Assumptions, Strengthen & Weaken

Identify argument gaps, supply assumptions that guarantee a conclusion, and evaluate the impact of new evidence.

Week 5 — Sunday, December 6 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

Necessary Assumptions, Evaluate & Principles

Test what an argument requires, evaluate reasoning, and apply general principles and pseudo-sufficient assumptions.

Week 6 — Sunday, December 13 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

Method, Parallel Reasoning & Explanations

Identify methods of reasoning, match parallel arguments and flaws, and resolve apparent contradictions.

INTERMEDIATE | WEEKS 7–10

Week 7 — Sunday, December 20 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

READING COMPREHENSION 1: Tracking Viewpoints

Track speakers and competing perspectives, notice shifts in viewpoint, identify the author's stance, and build paragraph-level passage maps.

Week 8 — SATURDAY, December 26 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

LOGICAL REASONING 1: Speed & Selective Diagramming

Recognize easy-question patterns and bank time. Diagram selectively and apply diagrams to Must Be True, Flaw, Sufficient Assumption, and Parallel Method questions.

Week 9 — Sunday, January 3 • 7:00–9:30 PM EST

LOGICAL REASONING 2: Hard Questions & Timing

Simplify dense stimuli, pre-phrase, use modifiers and strength words to eliminate answers, compare finalists, and apply a skip/flag/return timing strategy.

Week 10 — Sunday, January 10 • 12:00–2:30 PM EST

READING COMPREHENSION 2: Efficiency & Test Readiness

Use concise passage maps, find evidence efficiently, practice timed RC, avoid common answer traps, and finalize test-day strategy.

HOW TO MAKE THE MOST OF THE CLASS

Follow weekly homework and study plans, move into timed sections and full-length practice tests, and use blind review and an error journal to identify recurring weaknesses.

Class recordings, study aids, and two hours of office hours each week support practice between Sunday sessions.

The final class is January 10, ahead of the January LSAT.

Andrew

147 → 158 +11 points

“This class was a great interactive experience that taught me a lot!.”

Official LSAT result

Alyssa

146 → 154 +8 points

“I give it a 5/5. Practicing with others helped a lot with hearing other people's perspectives and thought processes!”

Rose

145 → 152 +7 points

“I think the class itself was interesting and good for foundational understanding as opposed to another course I took, but the part I enjoyed the most was lecture and individual/group practice questions.”

Folake

142 → 152 +10 points

“Really appreciate Luke for this affordable, and manageable LSAT prep option!! Learning the basics has completely changed my approach to the LSAT and I am getting closer to my goal!”

Group class reviews

Reviews from previous LSAT Buddies group-class students

Haley

144 → 155 +11 points

“Luke is great! He is very helpful and breaks things down in a way that is much easier to digest. He is amazing at responding to texts/emails and is very flexible when scheduling tutoring sessions. Highly recommend!”

Group class followed by individual tutoring; 155 reflects continued individual tutoring.

Saidah

136 → 145 +9 points

“I think if more time were spent understanding each topic before moving onto the next would be helpful. Homework Review sessions would also be helpful (maybe drop-in calls) outside of the office hours on Sundays.”

Sara

“It was a great class! I learned a lot of tips to use during the test and can see myself improving in both Logical Reasoning and Reading Comprehension. Definitely recommend this class to those studying for the LSAT.”

Paul

“It's a good mix between learning concepts and answering questions for practice.”
